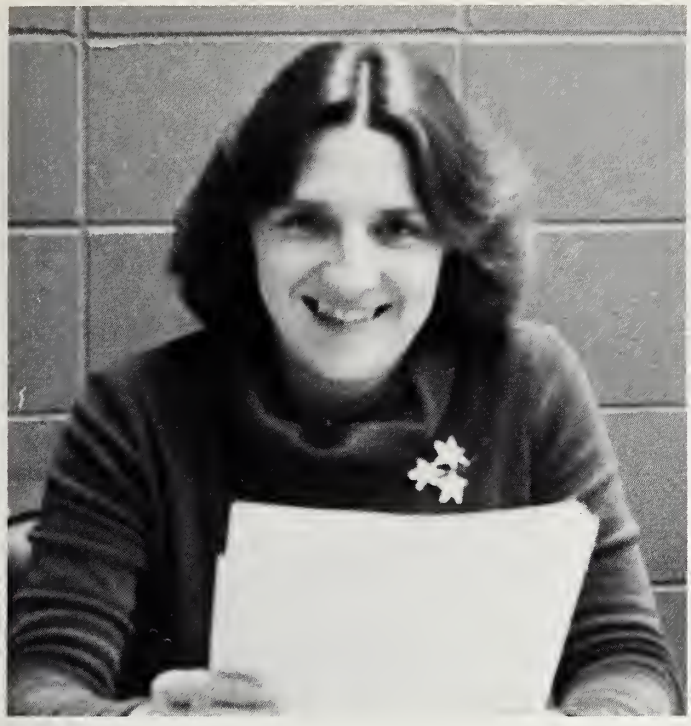
DEDICATION



The Yearbook Staff
dedicates
the 1980 FUTURA
to
Carolyn Bair

What we are looking for is not someone who will cut through our dilemmas but try to understand us. Not someone who will impose her will upon us but someone who will help us to use our own will. Someone who instead of dictating to us what we must do will listen to us with respect. Not someone who reduces everything to an academic argument but someone who will understand our personal motives, our feelings, and even our weaknesses and our mistakes. Someone who will give us confidence in ourselves because she has unshakeable confidence in us, who will take an interest in our struggles without prejudging their outcome, and a person who will not allow herself to be discouraged if we take a different road from the one she would have chosen.

PRESIDENT'S CHARGE

As President of National College of Education I support you proudly on this historic milestone in your lives. You graduate in 1980, a year of the Olympics. Your accomplishments at National College make you true gold medalists.

To those of you who have studied here for four full years - to those of you who have completed at National an education begun elsewhere - to those of you who have mastered accomplishments here beyond the undergraduate level - I offer my hearts congratulations.

Remember that you have supped only a small portion of the world's vast reservoir of knowledge. I challenge you to drink deeply of this elixir in the years ahead - to pursue true lifelong learning.

I charge you to apply your newfound knowledge to the betterment of your profession, and to the betterment of mankind as well. Whether you are in your 20s, your 40s or your 60s, your most important contributions lie yet ahead of you.

I thank you for infusing this institution with your youthful vitality - and with your worldly wisdom. All of us here have learned and grown along with you.

I welcome you to National's 93-year-old family of alumni. You, like thousands of your forebears, are emissaries of positive change in the world that dearly needs it.

You have, in your time here, shown your administration, your faculty, and your peers that you are splendidly equipped to transmit the values of excellence that all of us here today share.

With God's blessing, I know you will succeed.

I believe that children are our future
Teach them well and let them lead the way
Show them all the beauty they possess inside
Give them a sense of pride to make it easier
Let the children's laughter remind us how we used to be.
Everybody's searching for a hero
People need someone to look up to
I never found anyone to fulfill my needs
A lonely place to be, so I learned to depend on me.
I decided long ago never to walk in anyone's shadow
If I fail, if I succeed, at least I'll live as I believe
No matter what they take from me, they can't take away my dignity
Because the greatest love of all is happening to me
I found the greatest love of all inside of me
The greatest love of all is easy to achieve
Learning to love yourself is the greatest love of all
And if by chance that special place
That you've been dreaming of
Leads you to a lonely place
Find your strength in love.

IN MEMORIAM
ROBERT A. GREISING

What Is He Now?

He is the beginning of our life long journey,
A start fashioned from undying love.
He is the soothing face of comfort
Seen through child's tear-stained eyes.
He is the sensitive touch of compassion
Amongst bruising, biting jolts.

He is the intellect which knows the right,
With the wisdom to allow self learning.
He is the face filling grin and bursting pride
At the completion of self-taught lessons.
He is the guiding hand which does not steer,
Allowing pursuit of discovered paths.

He is the unswaying bridge of reason
Across twisting tides of trouble.
He is the foresight of prudent planning
And the unrelenting resolve of production.
He is the hopeful and determined ray
When our gleaming persistence is snuffed.

He is the flowing cup of opportunity
Still quenching our future thirsts.
He is the healthy blush of competition
And cooperation's cooling support.
He is there in our mind's eye vision
When our perception of justice is blurred.

He is beginning without an end,
Solace from worlds of fear,
Blazer of well followed trails,
Finder of unveiled truth.

He is the model of what we should be,
On which to form ourselves, and be
He is in us and part of us.
We are one, inseparable
And we love him as we love ourselves,
Forever.

--David Greising

CHILDREN LEARN WHAT THEY LIVE

If a child lives with criticism,
he learns to condemn.
If a child lives with hostility,
he learns to fight.
If a child lives with ridicule,
he learns to be shy.
If a child lives with shame,
he learns to feel guilty.
If a child lives with tolerance,
he learns to be patient.
If a child lives with encouragement,
he learns confidence.
If a child lives with praise,
he learns to appreciate.
If a child lives with fairness,
he learns justice.
If a child lives with security,
he learns to have faith.
If a child lives with approval,
he learns to like himself.
If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, he learns to find love in the world.

S.U.P.P.O.R.T. — Students United in a Peer Program of Out Reach and Training is beginning to get it's feet off the ground.

S.U.P.P.O.R.T. is a group of students seeking leadership skills and wanting to be effective listeners and caring persons towards their peers. They want to be able to direct them, by building a solid trust with them, to further resources which may be able to help them deal with a problem or question.

This year it has involved itself with interviewing referral agencies, helping out at the Blood Drives and working with Prospective Students. They shared "New Games," the fun-filled non-competitive games, with the prospects and the National Student body. Currently S.U.P-.P.O.R.T. is working with the newly developed Kiwanis Circle K Club. This newly developed club will work with promoting leadership, character, scholarship and service. The two clubs are very much related in that they both share the common elements of caring, leadership and service.

"S.U.P.P.O.R.T. members encourage the involvement of more interested persons and are interested in any attitudes, ideas and feelings that they may have to offer," stated Sandy Schwebke, freshman.

PRESIDENT'S CHARGE

As President of National College of Education, I wholeheartedly congratulate you on this important day in your lives. I speak sincerely and proudly to you graduates and to your families and friends.

You have withstood the long, tiring hours of studying and the discipline of term papers and projects. You have persisted throughout these difficult years because you knew the value of an education. You have triumphed.

We on the faculty and in the administration salute each one of you, whether you came here to pursue undergraduate or graduate studies, whether you came after raising a family to complete your degree, whether you plan to use your new knowledge in a classroom or in another setting. We thank you for the opportunity to share in your personal and educational growth.

You have made a commitment and have not wavered from it, and that may be one of the most significant lessons you have learned here. I send you forth from National College now with this challenge:

Let the degree you received today mark a new beginning of your education.

Let the commitment you made here serve as a model for other arduous tasks you may undertake.

Help lead others to the path by which they will discover life's richness.

And, finally, give freely of your love to your brothers and sisters, for it will return to you tenfold.
